Are you looking for a fun group effort study to supplement your 212 Hist. class (Escobar), and your individual studies?

Is there anyone interested in a study group that could use (and/or):

theatrical activity based,

pictorial recognition,

general enactment,

out loud reading of text,

online group project (visual and detail timeline?)

types of approaches to supplement their class engagement, and individual study?

Hello I go by Hanna. I am interested to see what ideas you have for memory reinforcement, and enjoyable extracurricular fun group study!

I can be emailed at posted888@gmail.com

I know that it could be difficult to meet in person, so maybe a pictorial /factoid timeline could be assembled online.

Who were these peoples?

How could we formulate a big picture and transition details to assemble a timeline?

 Samuel de Champlain and Huron war party.

A supposed illustration of Samuel de Champlain (French Explorer, and more), and Huron war party.

Portrayal of Martin Luther the German Monk (and more) "nailed his 95 Thesis to the Cathedral door at Wittenberg in Saxony and touched off the Reformation." (Page 38 text, Liberty, Equality, Power).

While I cannot guaranty perfection in a project such as this one, I suggest peer review, and potential periodical review by our professor (if he is interested).

I am thinking:

1 a general (key) events Excel timeline by date.

2 a follow along detail/pictorial to follow the chapters of the text. Names, peoples and actions to images, places to maps, etc.- Hanna
